AUSTERO BAND BIO

Austero is a riff-based rock act from Chihuahua City, Mexico. This rock trio is fueled by the sole purpose of creating music that honors the artists that inspired the band members over the years.

Blending alternative rock sounds along with some garage rock and hard riffs, Austero offers catchy songs than often merge with abrasive tones to create a style that is welcomed by listeners of hard rock as well as other softer sounds. Austero is influenced by acts such as: (the) Melvins, Brainiac, Weezer, The Icarus Line, Sparta, Zurdok, Resorte, Portugal. The Man, Silverchair, The Breeders, and many more.

After spending 2 weeks producing a batch of songs with Joe Cardamone [The Icarus Line] in Los Angeles, CA. Austero came back to Chihuahua City and produced their debut EP titled Pieces which released September 2017, The band has gained positive feedback and acceptance from the local crowd in their hometown and has been working on creating presence and awareness by remaining active in the scene.

Feeling confident about their work and 1st release, in 2018 the band has been creating new sounds and songs, and released their first single of 2018: Superficial in the month of May. Different from the band's songs in Pieces, this new track is written in Spanish, and has served as a good starting point for the band to begin expansion to bigger stages across Mexico, where they seek to collaborate with other artists and find experiences that help their reach grow to bigger audiences.

Austero is ready to tour and connect with the community in their country, and also plan to begin pre-production of their first LP.
